2. What is the difference between CIP (Career Investment Program) and the Education for Employment Agreement?

Unlike the Career Investment Program (CIP), which focuses on developing current employees, the primary audience for the education for employment incentive programs is prospective employees and employees admitted to the academic program but not receiving CIP benefits. Students who do not complete employment terms of consecutive 24-months would have to pay back tuition.

3. What educational programs are included in the Education for Employment Agreement?

Currently, Mayo Clinic has approved three programs for tuition waived for a 24-month employment post-graduation — Doctor of Nurse Anesthesia Practice Program, Surgical First Assistant Program, and Echocardiography Program.

4. Can the Education for Employment Agreement be accepted after starting the program?

No, the Education for Employment Agreement must be signed within three weeks prior to the official start of the program. Each program has unique start dates. See program website for current start dates.

5. Are there any tax implications of signing this employment contract?

It is recommended that students opting into the Education for Employment Agreement consult an independent tax adviser regarding tax implications of the Agreement. Acceptance and/or termination of the Agreement may have personal tax implications. Any tax consequences to students which may arise out of the Agreement is the student's sole responsibility.

6. What is the timeframe that a student must accept an employment offer (or start employment) post-graduation?

Prior to program completion, students must apply for a (nurse anesthetist, surgical first assistant, echocardiography technician) position at Mayo Clinic and must accept an offer of employment if offered (employment may be at any Mayo Clinic campus). If Mayo Clinic does not have an open position at the time of, or in the twelve (12) months prior to, your graduation from the Program, students will have no obligation for repayment of tuition. Student must commence an employment with Mayo Clinic within six months after completing the program according to the terms of the Agreement and remain employed at .8 FTE or more for 24 consecutive months from the employment start date.
