Postdoctoral Program Admissions

Briefly describe in narrative form important information to assist potential applicants in assessing their likely fit with your program. This description must be consistent with the program's policies on intern selection and practicum and academic preparation requirements:

The Medical Psychology Fellowship Program at Mayo Clinic Rochester is designed for recent graduates of an APA-Accredited Clinical or Counseling Psychology Doctoral Program and an APA- or CPA-Accredited Predoctoral Psychology Internship who wish to acquire advanced training in Clinical Health Psychology. The fellowship prepares doctoral-level psychologists for careers in multidisciplinary medical or academic settings by offering them clinical training, integrated with research and teaching opportunities in the scientist-practitioner tradition of training in psychology. Fellows select research mentors and have 30% protected research time. Educational opportunities are tailored and include weekly departmental grand rounds, case conferences, journal club, and didactic seminars. Fellows also receive funding for attendance and/or presenting at national conferences. Upon completion of the program, fellows are eligible for board certification through the American Board of Professional Psychology. The Clinical Health Psychology Fellowship aims for fellows to achieve advanced competencies in clinical health psychology to prepare them for employment in academic health centers and board certification in clinical health psychology. Fellows will have >50% of supervised clinical service delivery time (e.g., assessment, intervention, consultation). Fellows choose one of the following specialty areas for a major rotation: obesity & bariatric surgery, pain rehabilitation, primary care, psycho-oncology, or transgender and intersex specialty care. The major rotation focus will comprise 80% of the supervised practice hours. Minor rotations provide additional breadth (<20% time). Rotation schedules are based upon the fellow's interests and training goals.

Describe any other required minimum criteria used to screen applicants:

Applicants must have successfully completed an American Psychological (APA)-accredited or Canadian Psychological Association (CPA)-accredited clinical or counseling psychology doctoral program and an APA- or CPA-accredited predoctoral psychology internship.
